The City Hyderabad

Hyderabad with its twin-city Secunderabad, separated by the Hussainsagar Lake, has a unique landscape. The city nestles amongst the spectacular grey granite rocks of the Deccan Plateau. It is a must for tourist as it offers a rich variety of places such as the Golconda Fort, the world famous Charminar, Mecca Masjid, Qutub Shahi Tombs, Sri Venkateswara Temple and Nehru Zoological Park. The unique one-man collection at the salarjung Museum and the 18 meter tall 350 tonne colossus Buddha Statue in the picturesque Hussainsagar Lake together make an unparalleled tourist attraction.

Hyderabad is shopping paradise. It offers wealth of handicrafts, exquisite Bidriware Silver inlaid in black metal, delicate Nirmal painting on lacquer wood, bold leather puppets depicting characters from the Hindu epics, glowing pearls and shimmering bangles, dazzling textiles and silks, Kalamkari, Ikat and Pochampalli alive with vibrant colours.

February is a pleasant month for the winter still lingers on and the summer is yet to touch the doors. The days are warm with temperature around 27°C and Nights are around 18°C.

On behalf of the Organizing Committee, it is my pleasure to invite you to EMSI 2006 to present your recent work and contribute to the scientific merits of the conference at this historical city of Hyderabad, well known for its hospitality, culture and heritage. Indeed I look forward to welcoming you in February 2006.
